

MAY WHEAT HIGH

Wheat Growers Assn. Official Takes Issue With Barnes.

Declares Farmers Are Wise In Selling Crops Wisely.

FALL PRICES NOT HIGHEST

In Sixty Years May Prices Best Twenty-Seven Times.

Growers Unable To Sell at Top Price Because Cars Short.

Wichita, Dec. 31.—In 27 years out of the past 60 years, the highest price for wheat has been in May, according to W. H. McGreevey, secretary of the National Wheat Growers' association in an open letter taking exception to statements concerning the marketing of wheat by Julius Barnes, former federal wheat director.

Declares Reasoning Wrong.
"Only 17 times in sixty years has the October price been higher than that of the following spring," said McGreevey. "With this record, and the plan of the National Wheat Growers' association to have its members market their wheat at a price 10 per cent above the market price, I am sure that our wheat growers cannot be convinced by Mr. Barnes by any suggestion of figures that it is to their advantage to dump 90 per cent of their wheat on a speculative market by December 1 of any year."

Mr. Barnes is given credit in a reported New York interview by McGreevey continues, "for the statement that the average price paid for wheat up to December of the present year was $2.15 a bushel or five per cent less than last year, compared with an average of 19 cents a bushel for 1913."

Could Not Sell Early.
"I would like to remind Mr. Barnes that his figures are misleading, for the reason that very little wheat was sold for that price because no cars were available when that price was obtainable. Most of the wheat was marketed after December 1, whether it was 70 per cent as Mr. Barnes says, or 53 per cent as reliable statistics reveal, was sold at a much lower price than $2.17, a bushel and was far beneath the cost of production."

"By his unwarranted process of reasoning Mr. Barnes would have the public believe that the wheat grower, by having sold 70 per cent of his crop prior to December 1, has greatly profited by the average price paid of $2.17 a bushel and that the speculators in wheat and the foreign buyers were the heavy losers."

THEY BOTH WANT CHILD

Father and Mother Ask Court For Custody of Son.

Reformed, but starting life anew on widely separated paths, a father and a mother today appealed to Judge James McClure in the district court for their 6-year-old son.

Two years ago Helen Ingenthorne suffered a divorce by default from Joseph Ingenthorne, a well-known business man, and went to Nebraska, claiming he did not know of the divorce. She was later informed of the divorce and returned to Topeka, where he has been since. His mother, who had been restored to her maiden name of Helen, was living in Wyoming, where she worked as a waitress in a hotel. Two weeks ago she returned to Topeka, established a home with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Morgan, 525 Lawrence street, and filed a motion to change the custody of the child.

Ingenthorne remarried about four months ago. Judge McClure took the motion under advisement, leaving the child temporarily in the custody of his grandmother, with both parties privileged to see him. Ingenthorne admitted that he had been divorced, but he said he had been reformed. His former wife admitted that she smoked cigarettes and was informed by the court that she must discontinue the practice if she expects to get the custody of the boy.

TOWNLEY TO FIGHT

Nonpartisan League Chief Won't Quit Salina.

Legion Only Advertised Him,
He Declares.

Salina, Kan., Dec. 31.—A. C. Townley, Nonpartisan league head, said today he here has accepted the challenge indefinitely. Referring to the protest filed by the American Legion, he stated, "that if the Legion only knew that I am advertising the league here invitation of the Nonpartisan league of Salina county, which has 500 members."

Salina morning, the Central labor and the Nonpartisan league organization of Salina county issued a joint open letter addressed to the American Legion, in which they stated that the workmen and farmers of Salina county invited Townley here, and as their guest, they deplore the action and stand taken by the American Legion here, "that we will hold the American Legion responsible if any unlawful act occurs in which our guest is the victim."

This afternoon the American Legion issued an open letter declaring that any statement that the Legion proposes to use force to remove Townley from the community, was false, but that the Legion would start an advertising campaign to show that the Nonpartisan league was un-American.

HUNT PEARLS HERE

Kansas City Woman Lost Necklace at Theater.

Man Who Answered Ad Said
Jewels in Topeka.

Kansas City, Mo., Dec. 31.—The police here today asked Topeka authorities to aid in the search for a $150 string of pearls lost by Miss Viola Harwood, about two weeks ago at the Regent theater.

William Gustin and Frank Sloan, arrested here last night after Miss Harwood had told the police that Gus-tin had told her the friend had found the pearls and taken them to Topeka.
The woman said she had been told that the friend had taken the pearls to Topeka, and she had been told that the friend had taken the pearls to Topeka.
She recognized Gustin as the "red haired stranger" who had called on her after she had advertised for her lost necklace. She said Gustin had demanded a reward in advance and transportation to Topeka.

Gustin told the police that a friend of his from Topeka had told him that he had found the pearls. He said he did not know the man's address.

Topeka detectives said today they received a request to help in locating the pearls but have so far been unsuccessful. The search will be pushed, it was said.

WERE 68 LYNCHED

Texas Mobs Killed Ten Negroes
In Last Year.

Summary Justice Was Dealt Out
In 21 States.

OFFICERS FOILED 56 MOBS

Of Offenses Committed Twenty Were Against Women.

One For Trying To Vote and One For Window Peeping.

Tuskegee, Ala., Dec. 31.—Texas led all states in the Union in the number of negro lynchings in 1920, according to a report of the Tuskegee institute published here today. The Lone Star state has ten cases charged against its record, against nine persons, including one each for Kansas and Missouri.

Lynchings were less numerous in 1920 than in 1919, according to the report. In 1919, 123 persons were lynched, 82 were in the south and 41 in the north and west. One was a negro woman.

In 54 instances in 1920 officers of the law prevented lynchings, ten of these instances being in northern and 44 in southern states. Of the 54 instances, 32 were in the south and 22 in the north and west. One was a negro woman.

Offenses charged against negroes lynched, according to the report, were:
Murder, 2; attempted murder, 4; killing of officers, 5; killing landlords, 6; attacking women, 18; assisting fugitives to escape, 2; death of a child, 1; insulting women, 2; knocking down guard, 1; escaping from chain gang and then returning and surrendering, 2; and one each of the following: Jumping labor contract, threatening to kill man, cutting man in fight, "for receiving stay of death sentence," because another confessed crime," peeping thru window at woman; insulting on voting.

By state lynchings occurred as follows: Texas, 10; Georgia, 9; Mississippi, Alabama and Florida, 7 each; Minnesota, North Carolina, Oklahoma, Louisiana, Arkansas, Missouri, Kansas, Illinois, Kentucky, Missouri, Ohio, South Carolina, Virginia and West Virginia, 1 each.

ASK BETTER CAR SERVICE

Patrons of Gage Park District Want Court to Help.

Street car patrons in the Gage Park district appeared before the court of industrial relations today to urge improved service on the line. They asked the court to compel car service and direct and thru service.

Albert M. Patten, general manager of the McKinley syndicate, said that the McKinley syndicate had been commissioned for the local street railway company.
He said the present line is losing money during the winter months and that the McKinley syndicate would not be operating without improving revenues.

"Persons outside the city limits who escape the higher taxation service to be paid for by town patrons," Patten said. He also asserted that some of the McKinley syndicate's cars were not adequately and were not prepared to face the cold winds of making connections from the Melrose to the Gage Park cars. No direct order was issued in the case.

HER AIR CASTLES FELL.

Mrs. Zephyr Stanton Asks Divorce from J. D. Stanton.

The falling of the air castles she had built on her wedding day led Mrs.
Zephyr Stanton to seek a divorce from J. D. Stanton, according to her petition filed today in the district court.
She claims that as an inducement for her to marry him, Stanton represented that he was well able to provide for her and that he owned a big farm in Oklahoma and that he had already let the contract for their new home in Topeka. A matter of fact is that they were compelled to live with her parents following the wedding, she says.

The wife charges that Stanton failed to provide for her, that he had a violent temper, addressed her in an unkind and abusive manner and that he abandoned her December 11. She asks alimony and the restoration of her maiden name of Zephyr Carpenter.
